

Submission Guidelines for Authors

All papers are subject to anonymous peer review. The reviewers are selected based on their expertise in the area of the submitted paper, and they will evaluate submitted papers on the basis of creativity, quality of scholarship, and contribution to the field of research.

Authors are kindly requested to submit manuscripts in the following manner:

1. Basic Requirements

Asian Journal of Peacebuilding considers all manuscripts on the strict condition that

- The manuscript is the author's own original work, and does not duplicate any other previously published work, including the author's own previously published work.
- The manuscript has been submitted only to Asian Journal of Peacebuilding; it is not under consideration or peer review or accepted for publication or in press or published elsewhere.
- A separate cover page should be sent with the author's full name, affiliations, title, postal and email addresses, telephone/fax number, a professional bio (3-4 sentences, 60-80 word max: affiliation, title, publications, email address, etc.) written in 3rd person, and other important information alongside the main manuscript.
- Manuscripts should be sent through electronic medium to asianjournalofpeacebuilding@gmail.com.

2. Manuscript Preparation

When submitting, the author should indicate the type of paper they are submitting as either a 1) Research Article or 2) Local Perspective.

- A Research Article is a full research paper that contains a literature review, theoretical and analytical framing of arguments, and sufficient data to substantiate author's claims (6,000 – 10,000 words).
- A Research Note is a paper that seeks to establish a new conceptualization, provide new information, or introduce a new data analysis. Usually it is part of a bigger project which the author wishes to release in advance (5,000 – 7,000 words).
- A Perspective is a paper that analyzes the development of significant events or provides well-reasoned interpretations based on local information and data. It does not need a theoretical or conceptual frame (5,000 – 7,000 words).
- Manuscript abstracts should be less than 125 words and be followed by 5 to 6 keywords.
- All manuscripts should be submitted in Microsoft Word format.
- All pages should be double-spaced, Times New Roman font point 12 (including references) and left justified.

- Authors should pay particular attention to the accuracy and correct presentation of references and citations. In-text references should be cited by giving the author’s name, year of publication and specific page numbers after a direct quotation (Smith 1999, 28-29). A list of works cited must be inserted at the end of the paper. References should be single-spaced but double-spaced between citations and arranged alphabetically by author’s family name, and chronologically for each author. When referring more than once to the same author published the same year, identify each citation in the text as follows; (Smith 2012a; 2012b). When there are more than three authors, cite in the text as (Smith et al. 1999), but list all the authors in the reference list.
- Authors should adhere to the use of American-English and SI units.
- Please supply all details required by any funding and grant-awarding bodies on the title page of the manuscript (see above), as follows:
 - For single agency grants: “This work was supported by the [Funding Agency] under Grant [number xxxx].”
 - For multiple agency grants: “This work was supported by the [Funding Agency 1] under Grant [number xxxx]; [Funding Agency 2] under Grant [number xxxx]; and [Funding Agency 3] under Grant [number xxxx].”
- Endnotes should be avoided, or at least kept to a minimum. They should be numbered consecutively throughout the text with superscript figures.
